

Brandon Rabaria

Brandon started dancing his sophomore year of high school at BADS. In his junior year, he won the title of Mr. Dance of California of 2014 and competed nationally. He also danced and choreographed for his high school dance group, Knight Dancers, and has attended summer intensives at both Nutmeg Ballet Conservatory and Ballet West. Brandon is currently an applied math major at Yale University ('19), where he continues to train and perform with YaleDancers.

