

Julia Fry

As a passionate dancer and avid academician, Julia attends UCLA ('22) where she is pursuing degrees in both dance and business economics. While in high school, she was captain of her school's varsity dance team, Knight Dancers, choreographing numerous dances for sports games and dance concerts. In addition, she served as both a tap teacher and business intern for BADS during her time on Acuity. Interested in an array of styles ranging from commercial dance to ballet, Julia has attended summer programs with Hubbard Street Dance Chicago, Central Pennsylvania Youth Ballet, KairosProDancePrep, Backhaus Dance, Joffrey Ballet School, and American Ballet Theatre.

