

Sabrina Karlin

Driven by her passions for dance and writing, Sabrina attends NYU's renowned Tisch School of the Arts ('18), where she is pursuing her BFA in dance alongside a degree in journalism from the Arthur L. Carter Journalism Institute. An enthusiast for dance in all of its facets, she choreographed and danced for her high school's varsity dance team, Knight Dancers, and served as both an intern and production assistant for BADS during her time on Acuity. Focused heavily on ballet, Sabrina has attended Joffrey Ballet School's summer intensive on full scholarship, as well as programs with Central Pennsylvania Youth Ballet, American Ballet Theatre, French Academie of Ballet, and Ballet Austin. She is an avid student of life and learning, and has additional interests in graphic and web design, artistic management, media development and filmmaking. To learn more about Sabrina and her experiences, please visit her blog, Hamstrings & Heartstrings.

